CellaVie® PuppyVital Soft Goodies
Cell Nutrition for Growth. Dietary supplement for dogs

Brief Description

CellaVie® Dog PuppyVital Soft Goodies are the perfect combination of an irresistible treat and highly effective cellular nutrition for puppies. With 70% juicy chicken, valuable collagen, and the innovative Cell-K30-Nutrition® nucleotides, they support rapid cell division and the maturation of the immune system during growth. The ideal, soft training treat for the best start to a long dog life.

The best start in life: The soft treat for healthy growth and a strong immune system

A puppy's first few months of life are the most critical phase for its entire future development. The little body is working incredibly hard: In record time, billions of new cells must be formed for bones, muscles, organs, and a functioning immune system. For this rapid, uninterrupted cell division, the young organism needs enormous amounts of specific building blocks. If the body cannot meet this rapid peak demand on its own, a nutritional gap arises that can weaken development and the immune system.

The solution is CellaVie® PuppyVital Soft Goodies—the tastiest way to support puppies and young dogs at the cellular level as they grow. These soft, highly palatable treats combine pure enjoyment with scientifically proven cellular nutrition. With 70% chicken (fresh meat and organs), they're the perfect reward for daily training.

The clever formula also provides valuable natural ingredients such as collagen, krill, rose hips, and diatomaceous earth, as well as 1.5% of the revolutionary Cell-K30-Nutrition® nucleotides. These essential DNA and RNA building blocks play an absolutely crucial role in cell division and the maturation of the immune system. From the very beginning, they help ward off harmful bacteria and build a robust immune system. Reward your puppy with the best taste while laying the perfect foundation for a healthy, active life.

5 reasons why CellaVie® PuppyVital Soft Goodies are good for your puppy:

- Promotes healthy and robust growth: Valuable ingredients such as collagen, krill, rosehip, and diatomaceous earth naturally provide the best properties to support strong development during the first few months.
- Supports rapid cell division: During growth, countless new cells must be formed—the nucleotides contained in these treats provide the essential DNA and RNA building blocks needed for this process.
- Strengthens the maturation of the immune system: These cellular helpers support the development of a strong immune system and help the young dog fend off harmful bacteria right from the start.
- Fills the nutritional gap: Since rapid growth requires a particularly high amount of nucleotides, this snack ensures the essential external supply in a particularly tasty way.
- Highly appealing for daily training: With 70% juicy chicken and a soft texture suitable for puppies, these treats are the perfect, irresistible reward for every day.
