Product information

The Pro-Jump Safety stud guard is equipped with an exclusive, patented attachment system for breastplates and martingales. Thanks to the included Safety Stick, the girth or martingale quickly detaches from the saddle girth if the horse’s hoof or stud gets caught in it—for example, while jumping. This helps prevent accidents and falls of this kind. The system is triggered only when the breastplate or martingale is pulled downward—so it cannot open unintentionally, for example, over a jump or when the saddle moves backward.

- The shape of the Safety Stick makes the system compatible with most girths and martingales
- The anatomical design of the strap allows for free movement of the front legs, distributes pressure evenly, and at the same time provides effective protection against stud kicks
