This grazing muzzle helps ensure that your horse or pony eats less grass. Ideal for horses with insulin resistance or those that are overweight. The horse can still graze in the pasture but won’t eat too much grass. The front cutouts allow the nostrils to move freely. With this grazing restraint, the horse can drink normally

- Feed restrictor with cutouts for the nostrils
- Features a ring to which a lead rope can be attached
- With adjustable cheek pieces and headstall
- With a Velcro fastener on the headpiece
- The Velcro fastener opens when excessive force is applied to the headstall, which is designed to prevent the horse from getting caught
