CellaVie® PuppyVital Powder
—Cell Nutrition for Growth. Dietary supplement for dogs

Brief Description

CellaVie® Dog PuppyVital Powder is a tailor-made cellular nutrition formula for growing puppies and young dogs. The intelligent formula combines valuable natural ingredients such as collagen and krill with 15% highly effective Cell-K30-Nutrition® nucleotides. These essential building blocks promote rapid cell division, support the maturation of the immune system, and thus lay a strong foundation for a healthy, active dog's life.

The cellular foundation for robust growth and a healthy dog's life

A puppy's first months of life are crucial for the rest of its life. During this intensive growth phase, the little body must produce billions of new cells for bones, muscles, organs, and the immune system in record time. The problem: This explosive cell division requires the young organism to draw on enormous amounts of cellular building blocks. Since the body's own production reaches its limits during this rapid growth, a hidden nutritional gap often arises that can weaken development and immune defenses.

The solution is CellaVie® PuppyVital Powder—a highly innovative cellular nutrient that gives puppies and young dogs exactly the start in life they deserve. The clever formula combines valuable natural ingredients such as collagen, krill, rosehip, and diatomaceous earth with 15% of the revolutionary Cell-K30-Nutrition® nucleotides. These essential DNA and RNA building blocks play an absolutely key role in cell division and the maturation of the immune system. From the very beginning, they help the young body build a strong immune system and fend off harmful bacteria directly at the cellular level before they can spread. Lay the perfect foundation for a long, robust, and healthy dog's life with this scientifically backed Swiss cellular nutrition.

5 reasons why CellaVie® PuppyVital powder is good for your puppy:

- Promotes healthy and robust growth: Valuable ingredients such as collagen, krill, rose hips, and diatomaceous earth naturally provide the best properties to support strong development during the first few months.
- Supports rapid cell division: During growth, billions of new cells must be formed—the 15% nucleotides contained in the formula provide the essential DNA and RNA building blocks needed for this process.
- Strengthens the maturation of the immune system: These cellular helpers support the development of a strong immune defense and help the puppy efficiently ward off harmful bacteria right from the start.
- Closes the biological supply gap: Since rapid growth requires a particularly large amount of nucleotides and the body's own production is often insufficient, this powder ensures a vital external supply.
- Swiss premium quality for the best start: Developed based on Dr. Peter Koeppel's decades of cell research, the formula offers uncompromising purity without artificial fillers.
