The Molveno women's riding breeches by Vestrum in forest green combine an elegant look with functional features for equestrian sports. The high-waisted waistband provides a modern fit, while the bi-elastic material promotes freedom of movement, comfort, and breathability. The full seat with grip provides additional support in the saddle and complements the sporty yet sophisticated style of these women’s riding breeches.

The distinctive Vestrum print on the side and back highlights the brand’s signature design without overwhelming the clean silhouette. The zipper ensures a secure fit and easy handling for everyday use—whether at the stable, during training, or at competitions. The forest green colorway looks stylish and pairs well with a variety of outfits.
