WEATHERBEETA Stretch Shoulder Pads are functional shoulder pads for horses and ponies, designed for comfort, fit, and protection during everyday use. This model helps reduce friction in the shoulder and chest areas when horses are wearing blankets. Thanks to the lightweight four-way stretch material, the shoulder protector fits comfortably and offers a snug, flexible fit.

The shoulder protector is easy to put on over the horse’s head and can be securely fastened with the adjustable elastic belly strap featuring a Velcro closure. This creates a custom fit that can be adapted to different horse types and usage situations. The neutral black color is understated and versatile.
