Sprenger Satinox bits are the high-quality counterpart to anatomically shaped stainless steel bits. Compared to previously available models in the lower price range, they stand out for their exceptional craftsmanship and certified material quality. The satin-finished mouthpiece has a particularly elegant look thanks to its matte surface and feels comfortable on the tongue. The curved shape of the Satinox bits allows plenty of space for the tongue. They ensure even pressure distribution and provide a direct and precise response. The Satinox product line offers a comprehensive selection of models for all horse types, disciplines, and training levels, thereby creating an attractive core lineup in the budget and mid-range price categories.
