This grazing restraint ensures that your horse or pony eats less grass. Ideal for horses with insulin resistance or excess weight. The horse can still graze in the pasture but won't eat too much grass. The front cutouts allow the nostrils to move freely.

- Material: (Thermoplastic) polyurethane, polypropylene, neoprene
- Hardware material: Zinc alloy
- Feed restrictor with openings for the nostrils
- Features a ring to which a lead rope can be attached
- With adjustable cheekpieces and headpiece
- Soft padding on the headpiece

Product information

- With a Velcro closure on the headpiece
- The Velcro fastener opens when excessive force is applied to the headstall, which is designed to prevent the horse from getting caught
