CellaVie® Dog RelaxPlus Powder
: Cell Nutrition for Relaxation. Dietary supplement for dogs

Brief Description

CellaVie® Dog RelaxPlus Powder is a customized cellular nutrition formula designed to promote greater calm and stress resistance. It combines soothing natural herbs such as lemon balm and passionflower with 12% innovative Cell-K30-Nutrition® nucleotides. These support cellular stress management and regenerate stress-sensitive tissues—without making your dog drowsy.

Cellular stress management and natural calm—without causing drowsiness

Noise, unfamiliar situations, or separation anxiety: Everyday stress not only takes an emotional toll on dogs but also depletes the entire organism, right down to the cellular level. Under stress, the demand for cellular building blocks increases dramatically, as stress-sensitive tissues—such as the gut and structures near the nerves—are heavily strained. If these essential building blocks are lacking, stress resistance decreases and inner balance is lost.

The solution is CellaVie® Dog RelaxPlus Powder—a highly innovative cellular supplement that takes relaxation to a whole new level. The carefully crafted formula combines the power of proven natural herbs such as lemon balm, passionflower, and chamomile with 12% of the revolutionary Cell-K30-Nutrition® nucleotides. The herbs gently promote your dog's inner calm and balance without making him drowsy or lethargic. At the same time, the nucleotides—as essential building blocks of DNA and RNA—play a key role in cellular stress management. They help the body respond better to stress, counteract oxidative stress, and promote the regeneration of stressed tissues. Give your dog a consistent supply to support strong nerves, greater well-being, and maximum quality of life.

5 reasons why CellaVie® Dog RelaxPlus Powder is good for your dog:

- Promotes inner peace and calm: Time-tested natural herbs such as lemon balm, passionflower, chamomile, and hop flowers naturally possess the best properties for gentle relaxation.
- Does NOT make your dog drowsy: The powder supports balance as the foundation for quality of life, but keeps your dog alert, attentive, and actively engaged in life.
- Supports cellular stress management: The innovative nucleotides are essential aids that enable the body to respond to stress more efficiently and calmly at the cellular level.
- Regenerates stress-sensitive tissues: Stress greatly increases the body's need for nutrients; the 12% nucleotides specifically promote the regeneration of heavily stressed structures such as the intestines and nervous system.
- Counteracts oxidative stress: A consistent, daily supply of these essential building blocks supports long-term cellular health and increases your pet's overall stress resistance.
