The bits in the "Dynamic RS" series are ergonomically shaped: their joints are always angled forward by 45°. This ensures even pressure distribution. Because all Dynamic RS bits are positioned anatomically correctly between the tongue and the palatal arch, they are gentle on the mouth, allow for effective aids, and are also suitable for horses with a small mouth or a very fleshy tongue.The fixed side pieces of this bit allow for direct transmission of rein aids to the horse's tongue and lower jaw. Additionally, they protect the sensitive corners of the mouth and gently frame the horse from the sides. The bit sits particularly calmly in the mouth.
