Sprenger Satinox bits are the high-quality counterpart to anatomically shaped stainless steel bits. Compared to previously available models in the lower price range, they stand out for their exceptional craftsmanship and certified material quality. The satin-finished mouthpiece has a particularly elegant look thanks to its matte surface and feels comfortable on the tongue. Thanks to their curved shape, Satinox bits provide plenty of space for the tongue. They ensure even pressure distribution and deliver a direct and precise response. The Satinox product line offers a comprehensive selection of models for all horse types, disciplines, and training levels, thereby creating an attractive core lineup in the budget and mid-range price categories. The mouthpieces are available in single- or double-jointed versions or as a bar. Dressage specialists will appreciate the curb bits and snaffles.
