Anatomical Pad: Leather and Felt
Innovation Jump'in, the new anatomical pad made of leather and felt, has been carefully designed down to the smallest detail to better distribute the weight of the rider and saddle. Thanks to its flexibility, it adapts perfectly to every movement of the horse. Its highly ergonomic and contoured shape, made of mesh fabric, allows for excellent freedom of movement at the withers, exerting no pressure on them.

- The felt absorbs the pressure exerted by the rider and the saddle as the horse moves.
- The leather covering the top of the pad ensures optimal grip with the saddle.
- The mesh fabric is lightweight and offers excellent breathability along the entire backline.
