On cold, wet days at the stable and while riding, reliable protection from the weather is a must—and that goes for your hands, too, of course. But it's also true that precise rein control requires sensitivity and a superior grip. None of this is a problem for the WARENDORF riding glove, which offers excellent tactile sensitivity and, above all, is waterproof. The palm is made of supple yet durable DURADERO synthetic suede and features a large silicone-coated area. The glove is tailored for a snug fit and features a PFC-free, highly breathable, and very elastic VaporFlex laminate on the back of the hand. The result is a comfortable fit and plenty of flexibility for the fingers. And when the weather gets really unpleasant, the permanently waterproof and breathable ROECK-TEX

Product information

MEMBRANE protects your hands from getting cold. It’s supported by the soft, quick-drying, and climate-regulating Easy-Dry lining—for extra warmth and comfort. Practical and functional: the TOUCHSCREEN COMPATIBLE feature on the thumb and index finger—so you can keep the gloves on while typing on your smartphone and keep your hands warm. The Velcro strap on the neoprene cuff securely fastens the WARENDORF to the wrist. And because riders don’t want to sacrifice a stylish look while enjoying their favorite pastime, ROECKL has equipped this model with metallic accents on the back of the hand. Available in black and black/copper. Back of the hand: VaporFlex PFC-zero
