(Latin: Taraxaci Herba conc)

Even small children are familiar with dandelions and enjoy the playful dandelion puffs, which they use to spread the seeds farther and farther.

Like many spring plants, the dandelion has powerful blood-purifying properties and is therefore ideal for a spring detox. It stimulates all the digestive organs, as well as the kidneys and bladder, helping to eliminate waste products from the body.
For the same reasons, it can also be a great help for problems with the musculoskeletal system.
