The 3Spine saddle component is made of semi-flexible TPV plastic and is inserted by hand into the space between the pad and the tree. This is usually a straightforward process. If the cushion channel is too narrow, the saddle component can simply be trimmed with scissors.
Once in place, the saddle component can simply be left where it is. Due to its thin profile, it does not create any unevenness, so the fit of the saddle is not compromised.
Important: The saddle component must be positioned so that the Velcro strip is visible.
