The dense fur trim provides optimal pressure distribution while also regulating temperature and allowing for breathability.
The Streamline lambskin pad features an open vertebral channel that ensures balanced air circulation and provides reliable cushioning. The stylish fur trim on the top of the lambskin pad wraps around the saddle, preventing it from slipping.
The lambskin pad achieves its full effectiveness when used in combination with the matching saddle component (included with the product). The unique system consisting of the lambskin pad and saddle component remains securely fitted even while riding and does not ride up onto the horse’s withers or into the lumbar region. This protects the sensitive area around the spine.
The lambskin pad features a soft velour edging, a stylish piping, a reinforced spinal canal area, and an opening for the adjustable snap-button fasteners on the girth rings.
Included in the package, in addition to the Streamline lambskin pad, is the corresponding saddle component.
