Frey Spirulina Pellets, 1 kg, are a high-quality supplement for daily feeding in equine nutrition. The microalgae spirulina is considered a nutrient-rich ingredient with a natural profile and is particularly valued for its versatility. The pellet form makes dosing and practical use in the stable easier.

The formula is designed to easily supplement the daily ration and is particularly suitable for horses with increased needs for specific nutrients. Spirulina has traditionally been used as a valuable component in horse feed and can effectively complement a balanced diet. Thanks to its compact pellet form, the product mixes well with the feed in the trough.
