The double-jointed Novocontact Sensogan snaffle bit from Sprenger has a unique shape and is particularly sensitive.
The new Novocontact Sensogan snaffle bit features a unique, oval-shaped mouthpiece designed so that, with a light pull on the reins, a wide surface rests firmly against the tongue. Only when the reins are pulled more firmly does the mouthpiece rotate forward. At that moment, the contact area temporarily decreases, allowing for particularly effective aid application. This promotes optimal communication and paves the way for improved contact between you and your horse. The Novocontact Sensogan bridle is also effective for horses that tend to occasionally become strong and push against the hand.
