horses with summer eczema and similar skin diseases. Summer eczema, which results from bites by biting flies such as black flies, causes severe itching. As a result, horses with summer eczema often rub themselves raw very quickly and intensely. As a result, they not only lose their hair in the rubbed areas, but dangerous inflammations can also develop, which in turn attract even more midges and other parasites—creating a vicious cycle. That’s why it’s absolutely essential to treat summer eczema as early as possible.

DER Spray relieves itching and reduces inflammation

DER Spray from the DER line by Officinalis is specifically formulated to treat this common skin condition: extracts of asters and calendula soothe and comfort the skin. Evening primrose extract and added vitamin E strengthen the skin’s natural barrier and help rebuild tissue damaged by chafing, making the skin more resilient. Caraway oil, in turn, relieves itching, while neem oil acts as a deterrent against mosquitoes. In this way, DER Gel can break the vicious cycle of summer eczema and restore skin health.

Maximum Effectiveness and Optimal Tolerance

Thanks to a uniquely high concentration of active ingredients, this skin gel for summer eczema provides rapid relief from this bothersome condition. Since DER Gel contains almost exclusively natural ingredients, it can also be safely used on sensitive equine skin and applied over an extended period of time. DER Gel quickly and naturally puts an end to weeping chafing and itchy summer eczema!
